Climate Resilience Outreach Intern

Are you interested in working on climate change? Are you seeking an opportunity to reach out to vulnerable communities? Join our team as the Climate Resilience Outreach Intern! This paid 10-week internship will work closely with the Office of Climate Resilience team to support development of Resilience Action Plans and expand the reach of statewide resilience initiatives.

Applications due by 4pm on Friday, July 21st. Learn more at <https://bit.ly/ocrintern>.

Lunch & Learn: DEP – Extreme Heat Resilience Action Plan

On Wednesday, July 26, at noon, the Office of Climate Resilience will host a Lunch and Learn with New Jersey League of Municipalities on the Extreme Heat Resilience Action Plan.

DEP's Office of Climate Resilience (OCR) is supporting the NJ Interagency Council on Climate Resilience on the development of an Extreme Heat Resilience Action Plan and would like to increase engagement of municipal officials in the process.

The session will focus on priorities and needs of heat-impacted, at-risk communities. Guest speakers are Nick Angarone, Chief Climate Resilience Officer, and Nathaly Agosto Filion, Deputy Chief Climate Resilience Officer. Please RSVP if you are interested in attending.

DEP Blue Acres helps New Jersey residents and communities identify and avoid risks of flooding through strategic climate resilience planning and the state-led acquisition of flood-prone property.
