[EXTERNAL]: Site Remediation Professional Licensing Board licensing exam postponed to September 22, 2020

The New Jersey Site Remediation Professional Licensing Board, in consideration of restrictions on gatherings and other guidance related to the current State of Emergency, is postponing the Licensed Site Remediation Professional (LSRP) Licensing Exam that was rescheduled for June 17, 2020. The Exam will now be held on September 22, 2020. The Board will reassess the situation closer to that date and will provide updates as needed to Exam candidates via email, listservs and postings on the Board website.

The Board asks that Exam candidates rearrange their schedules accordingly and make every effort to attend the September 22, 2020 Exam. Candidates with conflicts that cannot be avoided or with health-related issues should contact the Board via email at SRPLBoardContact@dep.nj.gov so that other arrangements can be made.

The Exam will be administered using appropriate preventative measures and in adherence to social distancing guidelines. More information about administration of the Exam will be provided to approved Exam candidates through direct email correspondence from the Board.
