[EXTERNAL]: New Jersey Site Remediation Professional Licensing Board Announces plans for March 2022 Licensed Site Remediation Professional (LSRP) Exam

At the February 2021 regular Board Meeting, the Site Remediation Professional Licensing Board announced it plans on holding the next Licensed Site Remediation Professional (LSRP) Licensing Exam in the Spring of 2022. When a firm date has been set, the Board will send another listserv and post the information on the Board's website. However, for planning purposes at this time, prospective LSRPs should expect the exam to occur in March 2022. The Board has not decided whether the exam will be in-person or remotely-proctored (as it was in December 2020), and will make that decision based on the status of the Covid-related restrictions on gatherings in place at that time.
