

SUSTAINABLE GIFT WRAPPING

Use these tips to stay sustainable during this season of giving!

Fabric Wrapping

Japanese Furoshiki fabric wrapping technique utilizes sheets of fabric to create wraps for gifts or to transport goods. By using this method, you can create beautiful gift wraps that are reusable, plus there's no unwrapping mess!

Plain Paper Wrapping

Common wrapping paper is often glossy and lined with plastics which make it non-recyclable. Using recycled or recyclable paper is an easy swap that allows for traditional wrapping while at the same time being sustainable.

Drawstring Bags

Like Furoshiki, using a drawstring bag is a great way to have picture perfect presents without waste. The bags can be reused, or given as a part of the gift. Drawstrings are a great way to have beautifully packaged gifts with no hassle or cleanup involved.

Less Tape

When wrapping your gifts be mindful about how much tape you use or try wrapping options that do not involve tape to make gift giving greener!

For more sustainability tips, visit: <https://dep.nj.gov/sustainability/>

@NewJerseyDEP

@NJDEP